

Christ's Co-Mission International

Newsletter #39 First Quarter 2009

What a pleasant surprise when LBJS students won the inter-school football (soccer) championship. It was quite a blessing for us to hear the name "Loved By Jesus" amplified to the multitudes who were present.

What is especially rewarding is that due to our upright reputation LBJS was one of only two private schools invited to the tournament. By God's grace, the Mission in Odumase-Krobo has increasingly become respect worthy. As students and staff are trained and encouraged in godliness, the Lord is being honored. Continue to pray with us for hearts and lives to be transformed.

Our classes are outgrowing our facilities. There are now 372 students attending daily on our half-acre campus. Thankfully, tuition revenue is now almost paying for academic staff, which brings us much closer to long-term sustainability. And yet, with a local unemployment rate of over 30%, many in town seek part-time jobs from the mission. Not only does this bring opportunities for practical discipleship for the ones we are able to hire, but it provides a beneficial example for the students as they observe industriousness.

With local property prices on the rise, Christ's Co-Mission International, Inc. hopes to buy land/facilities this year in Ghana. Please keep this in prayer not only financially but especially ask God that we (David, John, Renee) would keep completely in step with Him.

Small group tutoring helps struggling students.

Opportunities for this developmental mission to impact more lives continue to multiply. We are thankful for several who have already joined us in this Co-Mission. The possibilities are bigger than us. May the Lord of the harvest continue to send laborers. The potential is tremendous.

Repairing of uniforms blesses students.
