

Christ's Co-Mission International

December 2005 Newsletter

Our recent mission's trip to Ghana was quite a blessing. Thank you for the prayers and encouragement. Plans are underway for others to serve in 2006. Projects are moving forward to expand the reach of the mission. Individuals have requested more Bible studies – praise the Lord! African staff are really developing. We are interviewing for more school teachers and it is critical for us to improve the classrooms and add more.

End-of-year gifts and monthly contributions are welcome as there are many opportunities to touch lives in the year to come. Donations are not used for US staff or overhead but for developmental and discipleship ministry among the needy. Particularly we ask for prayer for the mission Members as they have an increasing voice in ministry planning and for the health of staff as some really need a touch from the Lord.

A question arose at CCMI's Annual Dinner in November inquiring why people should continue to be involved charitably in destitute areas since decades of effort have not yet solved the problems...

The author of The Purpose-Driven Life states: "I deeply believe that if we ... do not speak up in defense of the poor, we lose our credibility and our right to witness about God's love for the world."

Jesus states: "... whatever you did for one of the least of these brother's of mine, you did for Me."

As we celebrate Christ's birth, may we be encouraged and challenged to increasingly impact our world for Him and may each of you have a Merry Christmas full of His presence. You are Loved by Jesus!
