

Christ's Co-Mission International

July-August 2006 Newsletter

Your prayers, God's grace, and the faithfulness of the Mission staff in Ghana are impacting lives. Ministry in "the desperate land of the Krobos" is always a challenge, and yet spiritual maturity is increasingly evident among mission staff, students, and teachers.

One of the recent blessings involves a young man featured in CCMI's June 2004 newsletter. He had dropped out of school once again later that year. Amazingly he returned this past May to ask if he (pictured below left) could come back to Loved By Jesus School. It was particularly thrilling to hear him testify that he had become a Christian, was baptized, and is actively involved in a church. God is good!

Another significant answer to prayer is the recovery of our school caretaker from a severe hernia. Pictured below middle, Teye substitutes for a class in the newly constructed LBJS classroom.

In June, the 40' container shipment of donated items arrived to Odumase-Krobo. CCMI assigns resources to appropriate personnel to be used for the mission's purposes. To ensure the Lord receives glory instead of us, we (Americans) take care to avoid being seen as the providers of these blessings. In the above right photo, after older students brought this slide to the kindergarten class, the teacher instructed the children to "Clap for Jesus". With spontaneous excitement they responded: "Jesus the best ... the Best ... Jesus the BEST"

Below, children enjoy the playscape that was provided by the Lord and installed by students in our Work For School Fees program – designed to provide older students with the opportunity to earn their tuition fees.

Offloading the shipment had been a challenge. And then, with crates and items scattered across the school grounds, dark rain clouds approached from the south. Thankfully it was just another opportunity for the Lord to reveal His faithfulness as He has done countless other times. The storm changed its direction and we were given 24 more hours to secure the shipment's contents before it rained at LBJS. Yes, Jesus is the Best!

To Partner with us or to receive the "Jesus the Best" digital video clip just email us.

"Seeking first His kingdom with Christians globally"